- one digital copy of the dissertation for display on the web. In exceptional circumstances, exemption from providing the digital copy may be granted by the relevant Program Director. In this instance, a hard copy must be provided.

At the expiration of the embargo period, all dissertations accepted for the award of a higher degree will be available for consultation by researchers both in the University Library and on the web. Approval may be sought to temporarily restrict access after the embargo period.

Where an author has chosen Option 3, a reason for the request must be given. It will also assist those who may have to respond to a request to access the research in the author’s absence. Please use the space below.
